

UNIVERSITY of LOUISVILLE*Course Catalog Entry

Course ID: BE 680

Effective
Date: 03/02/2010

Title: Bio-Micro- Electro- Mechanical Systems

Career: Graduate

Credit
Hours: 3.00

Description: Prerequisite: Graduate/professional standing and ECE 543 or instructor's permission. Application of microtechnology principles to the biomedical field in areas that include tissue engineering, lab-on-a-chip, biosensors, drug delivery, etc. Application-specific criteria supporting the need for miniaturization .

If you would like course section specific information, your faculty member may have posted information in Blackboard. Click on the "Bb" link to the left. You can preview the "Course Information" and "Staff Information" sections.

View Required Books

If you would like to see the required texts for this class, click the "Books" button to the left.

Disclaimer:

The course descriptions provided herein are for the guidance of students. The University, however, reserves the right to change course descriptions without prior notice.

The provisions of this listing do not constitute an express or implied contract between the University and any member of the student body, faculty or general public.

The displayed information is the latest available from the Student Records system which is maintained by the Registrars' office.

Search Again Schedule of Classes

© 2000, University of Louisville, All rights reserved